Lady's Skirt with Adjustable Box-pleat in

DESCRIPTION OF 7583.

The pattern shown here is especially liked for very thin materials, for wash goods or light weight silks. It also develops well in the light weight crepons, and may be made without the box-pleat in front.

A charming evening dress of pink taffetas with a black stripe was trim-med with black satin ribbons run through a creamy lattice work of batiste, as shown in the illustration. The waist had a black chiffon bodice, with short puffed sleeves of the silk. Three strips of the batiste, with black satin ribbon run through them, formed brettelle trimming on both back and front of the waist.

A blue dotted mull dress had a ruffle of narrow Valenciennes lace on the edges of the double box-pleat. The waist was made with a blouse front, which was also made with a double box-pleat edged with lace. The short,

The pattern is also suitable for extra skirts, with or without the box-pleat. It is cut in sizes 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32 inches waist measure, and a medium size requires 5 yards of 42-inch goods.

An immense bow edges the points, and the front is fin-ished with black chiffon, a bunch of blue flowers set at the throat and at the edges. A few green leaves set chiffon finlsh for the front makes a charming finish.

The Pattern of the cape proper is in one piece. A standing and a turn-over collar are included in the pattern. The cape has six points two of which fall just back of the sleeves, two over them and the remaining two are in front. O'RINGOIS OF EXPERTS.
On December 13, 1893, Dr. Herman M. Biggs, bacteriologist of the health board of New York city, informed that body that consumption was caused by a small louse, parasite or germ; that it was contagious and eats up the human hung, a On December 14, 1893 (see Health Reports), the health board decided that Dr. Biggs was correct in his diagnosis, and passed a resolution to isolate all persons in the city suffering with consumption. Therefore, it is the bugs, simply the bugs, we have to fight in cases of consumption.

CCIENCE THROUGH THE MICROSCOPE can distinctly see these small germs or microbes eating the live fibre and warm blood-drops of man as with the naked eye you can see a worm in a see or a caterpillar eating a green leaf. Therefore Dr. V. R. Scheck, specialist, says: "The only medicine of nature is that which will destroy the germs of disease."

on the lungs.

THE PIRST CURE MADE.

THE FIRST CURE MADE.

In December, 1892, I started from Georgia to Florida to die o. consumption. The disease had been slowly creeping on me for fifteen years. I was a skeleton, 120 pounds—no digestion, no appetite, no ambition, and no special desire to live. On my way South I became acquainted with an old Doctor. With his help and advice I invented the Swamp Angel Medicine. On March 1, 1894, I had been using this medicine about fourteen months, from 100 to 300 drops a day. On my return to Atlanta, after an absence of less than a year selling this medicine, I steepped up to Mr. Wright, chief of the detective force in Atlanta, and one of the smartest men in Georgia remembering faces, and extended my hand. He said: "Really I don't remember you; seems like I have seen you some where." This is D. W. Marion, the man you saw three straight months every day at 97 Decatur street." "Indeed, indeed! Is that so? I never would have known you. How you have changed! You look ten years younger. What on earth have you been doing to yourself?" "Taking from 100 to 300 drops of Swamp Angel Medicine every day," was my reply. Mr. Rannan, chief clerk of the city delivery for the Lamar-Rankin Drug Co., who sold me drugs every day for three months, did not know me on my return. I had a room rented on Cherry street, Macon, Ga., during 1892. I met the policeman, Mr. Taylor, of that beat, a year after I had commenced the use of Swamp Angel Medicine. He said: "Surely you are not the man who was dying of that terrible cough and lung trouble in the rear of Wing's printing house? Why, when I passed your room at miduight I heard that cough. I said to myself, You are not long for this world." And here you show up in the pink of health. What have you been doing to gain so rapidly and look so much younger?" My reply was the old story, "Swamp Angel Medicine." In fact, kind reader, few people who know me a year ago, a consumptive invalid, can recognise me to-day. I weigh so lha, have a good appetite and the powers, faculties and ambitions of a man DEAFNESS CURED.
